HOLLAND REBELS ASK ABDICATION OF WILHELMINA

Dutch Extremists Demand That Queen Give Up Her Throne.

"REDS" RULE AT BRUSSELS

More Than 100 German Army Officers Killed by Mutinous Troops—Socialists Storm Parliament in Vienna.

London, Nov. 16.—The threatening attitude of extremists in Holland, who have demanded the abdication of Queen Wilhelmina, is causing anxiety at The Hague, according to the Daily Express.

Grave Crisis in Holland.

The Hague, Nov. 16.—The Dutch government has issued a proclamation urgently appealing for the co-operation of citizens in a "grave crisis." It says the minority is threatening to seize power and declares its determination to maintain authority and order.

Mackensen's Army Revolts.

London, Nov. 16.—The greater part of the forces under Field Marshal Mackensen, in command in Roumania, has joined the revolution, the Budapest As-est says, according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company.

Reds Storm Vienna Parliament.

Paris, Nov. 16.—Socialists stormed the Austrian parliament building in Vienna Wednesday and tried to enter the chamber where the new state council was in session. Shots were fired before order could be restored, and 20 persons in the crush outside the building were injured, according to dispatches reaching here. President Dinghofer denied that the firing began from the parliament building.

The new national flag of three bands, red, white and red, was hoisted over the building, but soon afterward someone removed the white band and the crowd cheered the red flag.

A party of socialists occupied the seats of the new assembly and brought out special editions advocating the establishment of a socialist republic in Germany.

100 Hun Officers Slain.

London, Nov. 16.—More than 100 men, mostly German officers, have been killed in disorders in Brussels, and soldiers' councils have been formed in that city and at Antwerp, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company, quoting the Telegraph.

LID ON DISCHARGES IN ARMY

Secretary Baker Rules Against Dismissals Before General Demobiliza-tion From Service.

Washington, Nov. 16.—The war department has clamped down the lid on immediate discharge of officers and enlisted men in the United States army unless the discharge of the individual is required by reason of financial distress of his dependents. A general order was sent by Secretary of War Baker to the adjutant general directing that no discharges be authorized until the war department has adopted a general demobilization policy, which is now under consideration. Discharges of men in the overseas forces are to be approved personally by General Pershing before the adjutant general can issue the necessary certificate of discharge, Secretary Baker's order declared.

200,000,000 MORE TO FEED

Head of Chicago Packing Firm Says Peace Means Greater Production in U. S. Than Ever Before.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—"Peace means 200,000,000 new mouths to feed," said Thomas R. Wilson, president of Wilson & Co., packers, "but it doesn't add an ounce to our stock of food. The new safety of the seas makes it possible to send supplies to 150,000,000 in Russia, the Balkans, and elsewhere, who have long been threatened with starvation;
and now, augmenting these elements, are the hunger-maddened crowds of the central powers.

"The problem now," said Mr. Wilson,
"is how to make our supply go round.
The latest statistics," he said, "show there are 66,830,000 cattle, 48,900,000 sheep, and 71,374,000 hogs on the farms.

"It means greater production is necessary than ever before," he said, "and continued night and day shifts at the packing houses."

BRITISH MEET FOE WARSHIP

Armistice Delegates From Revolutionary Faction Confer With Admiral Beatty at Sea.

London, Nov. 16.—The German warship Koenigsberg, which put out from a German port on the 13th with armistice delegates from the revolutionary faction on board, was met by British warships and escorted to a certain point at sea, where Admiral Beatty of the British navy received the German delegates' proposals for carrying out the naval terms of the armistice, it is learned here.

1—Bingen, one of the cities on the left bank of the Rhine that passes into control of the allies by the terms of the armistice. 2—View of the harbor of Heligoland, the fortified island which the mutinous sailors of the German fleet seized. 3—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., opening the United War Work campaign with the aid of an elephant.

RULERS ABANDON THRONES

Germany's Plea for Food Will Be Granted by Allies—Mutiny of Fleet May Hamper Armistice—Predictions as to the Peace Conference.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.

Falling thrones and fleeing kings and princes; a maelstrom of social revolution and military mutiny; soviets of the workers and soldiers in control, and former autocrats in hiding.

That in brief is the condition in central Europe, following the cessation of hostilities. How it will all end and not the wisest statesmen can conjecture.
Quick work by level-headed leaders may direct right the great movement and bring out of the chaos orderly and firmly grounded governments of and for the people. At present it seems that a favorite jest has become a sober fact and that the big task now is to make democracy safe for the world.

In Germany the Socialists are establishing themselves under the leadership of their chancellor, Friedrich Ebert, a brave and highly esteemed man. The several factions of the party appear to be working in some harmony, and the bolsheviks, though yet in the decided minority, have been given recognition which is encouraging them to demand more. In Berlin, where the German republic was proclaimed, there has been intermittent fighting between the revolutionists and some officers and troops that remained loyal to the old order, and in some other cities there were conflicts; but on the whole the change has been accomplished with remarkably little violence. The leaders occupy the reichstag building in Berlin and are striving to put the affairs of life on a normal basis.

In the allied countries there was a shrewd suspicion that the revolution was being fostered and directed under cover by the leaders of the old government in the hope that through it they might be spared some of the rigors of the peace settlement. Such, too, was the explanation of the establishment of a republic in Bavaria, and in Schleswig-Holstein, which states now say they will become parts of the new German republic.

The man in the street, and most of the newspapers, in America, England and France, did not at first look kindly on Doctor Soeffs' appeal to President Wilson that the allies take steps to save the people of Germany from starvation. It savored of impudence, coming from a representative of the people who starved Belgium, Serbia, Poland and Roumania without a qualm of conscience. But the allied governments have looked at the matter in a different light, and, probably wisely, have determined to supply to the Germans such food as can be spared, not only for humanity's sake but on the theory that order can be more quickly and easily restored among a well-fed people. If the excesses of the starving Russians were repeated in Germany it might be difficult to carry out the terms of the armistice. The feeding of hungry Germany, becomes a commonsense business proposition. Herbert C.
Hoover already has sailed for Europe to direct the distribution of food.

The Socialists in control, though wailing at the "terrible harshness" of the armistice terms, declare they will do all they can to obey them. On land this will not be so hard, but the naval situation has been complicated by the seizure of most of the German fleet and of the fortified island of Heligoland by revolving sailors. These men saw, in the surrender and dismantling of the war vessels, the end of their livelihood, so they took possession of the ships and sailed from some of the ports.
Their future plan of action, if they have any, is misty. When the allies are given possession of the land batteries the warships can be driven to sea, and there they can be dealt with by the allied fleet.

The abdication of the kaiser, the emperor of Austria and the rulers of minor states in central Europe, while doubtless of absorbing interest to themselves, cannot be considered of great moment amid all the tremendous events that are taking place. These monarchs were but symbols of the order that is passing, and even the kaiser already had lost most of his power.
He, as William Hohenzollern, is now interned at the residence of his friend, Count Bentinck, in Holland. Abdication was forced on him, but in fleeing from his country he showed the yellow streak. Compare his course with the really dignified exit of that other seeker after world domination, Napoleon.
The Dutch government pretended to be surprised and disconcerted by the arrival of William, but in reality it knew he was coming and arranged for the event. There is a report that the former kaiser will eventually take up his residence in his palace on the Island of Corsica. This presumption that the allies will not take possession of his person and put him on trial for his monstrous crimes against civilization. The Germans themselves might decide to do this, for there is an insistent demand among them that such war leaders as Admiral von Tirpitz, Major General Keim, Admiral von Holzendorff and Dr. Wolfgang Knapp be arrested and tried. Hindenburg and others of the army commanders have sought to evade such fate by submitting to the rule of the soldiers' councils.

The former empress of Germany is said to be ill in Potsdam, and there are all kinds of rumors about the ex-crown prince. Probably few care whether or not he has been killed.
Charles of Austria by abandoning his throne dodges the great task of straightening out the affairs of the countries that comprised his realm.
This will devolve on the peace conference, and doubtless will not be settled without many disputes over conflicting claims and aspirations. As was foreseen, the German part of Austria has elected to become a part of the new German state.

There was great rejoicing along the entire front in France and Belgium when the news spread of the signing of the armistice. Allies and Germans alike cheered the announcement and at once emerged from their trenches and threw aside the caution to which long years of warfare had accustomed them.
The retrograde movement of the Huns was accelerated in obedience to the terms of the armistice but for several days the allied armies did not follow them. Then began their own advance into the regions the enemy had been forced to evacuate.

On Thursday it was announced that the Americans had crossed the frontier toward Metz and Strassburg, and that on Sunday Marshal Foch, commander in chief of the allied armies, would make formal entry into those cities of Lorraine and Alsace in the presence of President Poincare and Premier Clemenceau.

In Brussels and other cities the German soldiers got out of hand and were reported to be burning and pillaging.
The allies' high command at once warned the German high command that unless this violation of the armistice terms were stopped the allies would take drastic steps.

It is generally agreed now that the world peace conference will meet somewhere in Europe, probably in Versailles. Whether or not President Wilson will attend is not settled. It has been suggested that he be present at the opening and then return home to attend to the vastly important domestic problems that must be solved. Possibly America's representatives at the peace board will include Secretary Lansing, Colonel House, Elihu Root and Justice Louis Brandeis. The proceedings of the conference are sure to be protracted, and well informed correspondents are amusing themselves and their readers by speculating on the conclusions that it will reach. Briefly, they predict that Germany will be compelled to restore Alsace-Lorraine to France; that Luxembourg will be united to Belgium; that Poland will receive large additions, including part of Prussia with an outlet to the sea, and parts of Austria; that Serbia will get Bosnia and Herzegovina; that Italy will receive the Trentino, Trieste and most of Dalmatia; that a plebiscite may be taken to determine the desires of the Croats and Slovenes; that Ukraine may get part of Galicia; that England is to have Mesopotamia and France will take Syria, and that Palestine will become an independent state.

Among the many difficult things to be settled are the conflicting claims of Italy, Serbia and Greece; the status of the Arabs and of Armenia; the disposition of Constantinople and the coast of Asia Minor, and the reduction of Bulgaria to the weakest of the Balkan states.

It is expected that the peace conference will open in the latter part of December, after the English parliamentary elections, and already the representatives of all the small nationalities with grievances are gathering in Paris. Many of the questions, it is understood, will be settled in advance by the entente powers and the United States.

Turkey is awaiting to read the representative of the allied powers. The ready allied fleet has passed through the Dardanelles and dropped anchor off Constantinople. The men now in control in Turkey have accused Talaat Pasha, former grand vizier; Enver Pasha, former minister of war, and Djemal Pasha, former minister of marine, of embezzlement and other crimes, and those worthies have fled from the capital.

Before the ink was dry on the armistice agreement America began turning to the problem of getting back to a peace footing. Its solution will require the best work of our wisest minds.
The demobilization of the immense army will be gradual, and the men will be returned to civil life in the order of their importance in peaceful pursuits and with proper regard to the ability of industries to absorb them.
The National Association of Manufacturers gives assurance that every man will find awaiting him the place he left when he went into the service, and there is little doubt that there will be work for all. Innumerable projects that were suspended owing to the demands of the war will be resumed at once, and the demand for labor on these public and private enterprises will be enormous.

The department of war put a sudden stop to the sending of drafted men to the army camps and notified men between the ages of thirty-two and forty-six to return their questionnaires unfilled. The men below twenty-one now in the camps may be retained there for a time, for the training and possibly to replace some of those who already have been sent in Europe. As for the army on the other side, it is likely to be there for a good many months yet, for there will be a big job of policing to be done. The navy and marines still are taking recruits. Their part in enforcing the armistice and peace terms will be a considerable one.
If present plans are carried out.

Many of the regulations to which we have grown accustomed in the past year and a half are being abandoned.
The food administration has suspended the rule requiring the use of wheat substitutes in baking and has increased the sugar ration in some states, but at the same time emphasizes the necessary for continued conservation of all staple foodstuffs. Deferred building projects were released by Chairman Baruch of the war industries board, and many industrial restrictions were removed.

The government's contracts for war materials are not to be cancelled abruptly, so the contractors will have time for readjustment.

The people of America are being kept awake to the fact that with the near approach of peace their financial responsibility due to the war has not ceased. At the present time they are called on to raise a huge War Work fund to be expended by the seven organizations whose work is by no means ended. Then, early next year, there probably will be a fifth Liberty loan, for the nation's expenditures due directly to the war must be enormous for a long time to come. Most of what was raised in the past was spent before it was received.

Kentucky News Cullings

An epitome of most important events transpiring in state : : :

Louisville.—Corp. Edward George, who was killed in France, was a grandson of Colonel Henry George, former commander of the State Confederate Home.

Owingsville.—The three-year-old boy of Esby Whaley and wife, who live on the banks of State creek, a short distance west of this place, strayed off while his mother was about her affairs, and walking into the water, was drowned. The little fellow had been dead some time when found.

Frankfort.—It is possible that nearly a hundred per cent change in text books used in the public and high schools may be made by the State Text Book Commission, which will be appointed in January by Gov. Stanley, although State Superintendent V. O.
Gilbert does not believe it will be necessary.

Maysville.—A woman who gave the name of Mary Haire was taken from C. & O. fast train No. 4 here in a very precarious condition, and for several hours doctors worked with her before she was revived sufficiently to talk.
She said she was on her way to Columbus, O., and took the wrong train at Cincinnati and became sick.

Danville.—Lemuel Leonard had several sheep killed at the Jackson farm.
The dogs in some sections are attacking hogs and calves. Cook and Cooley, north of Perryville, discovered two dogs making a raid on their hogs. One of the hogs was badly lacerated before the curs were frightened away. Another party had a calf injured by dogs.

Maysville.—C. Gorham, who came from Louisville to work on the dam, committed suicide by drowning. He jumped into the river and pushed away a plank that was thrown to him and sank. He inquired the time from a watchman and then remarked it was time to go, and made the leap to his death. The body has not been recovered.

Lexington.—Prof. A. M. Miller, head of the Department of Geology of the University of Kentucky, has been assigned to render service to the government in the capacity of valuation geologist.
He will make a valuation report of all the oil properties of Kentucky and Tennessee. He left for Pittsburgh, where he will receive Federal instructions.

Somerset.—Mrs. Andy Patterson, who was residing with her son, Tom Patterson, in this city, received fatal burns, when she attempted to start a fire with what she thought was kerosene, but proved to be gasoline. Dr.
Beard was called, but her burns were found to be so serious that no hope was entertained for her recovery and she died.

Somerset.—F. J. Waggoner, who was taken from a train load of soldiers, which passed through here en route to a camp in Alabama, was admitted to the hospital in a delirious condition. After medical attention he was released and placed in charge of an officer. His mind seemed to be impaired and he was conveyed to Lakeland asylum.

Winchester.—Suit for a mandatory injunction against the Kentucky Utility Company was brought by the city of Winchester to compel the company to turn on street lights. Winchester has been in darkness for a week past because the city refused to pay the company's last bill, alleging that it was an overcharge. Then the company retaliated by turning off the lights.

Lexington.—Miss Gladys M. Williams, of Lexington, has received a letter from Private Virgil B. Gould, of the one hundred and seventh U. S.
Infantry, now in France, in which he says that he saw where Germans cut up humans and made soup of them.
They had large pots or kettles and a big block to cut them upon, and cut them all to pieces and boiled their dead, he stated.

Princeton.—Rescued from being burned to death in a fire that destroyed his parents' home at Fredonia, near here, Leonard Lowery, 16 years old, died from exposure and shock, resulting from being removed from the house, and his mother, Mrs. James Lowery, who was ill with influenza, is in a precarious condition. Young Lowery also had been ill, but was believed to be recovering.

Cynthiana.—Hon. Ed C. Day, of Helena, Mont., formerly of this county, has been appointed by President Wilson as U. S. District Attorney for the State of Montana, and the appointment has been confirmed by the Senate.

Richmond.—F. M. Stiver received a telegram that his youngest son, Emerson Eugene, was dead at Brownsville, Tex. He was just 18 years old, having enlisted before becoming 18. He is survived by his parents, one sister and a brother, who is in France.

FRIEDRICH EBERT

Friedrich Ebert, chancellor of Germany under the socialist regime that is establishing itself, is a member of the reichstag and a leader of the socialist party. He was born in Heideberg, the son of a tailor, and formerly was editor of a Bremen paper. He is said to be one of the finest characters in the ranks of German socialism.

MEET BEFORE DEC. 15

Peace Congress to Assemble at Versailles, Near Paris.

Allied Chiefs to Go to Paris to Fix the Final Plans of Congress.

Paris, Nov. 16.—It is probable that the first meeting of the peace congress will be on a date before December 15, after the English parliamentary elections, and at a time which will give ample opportunity for the American and other delegates to arrive. A meeting of the interallied conference, to be held shortly, will finally determine the details of these questions.

Premier David Lloyd George and Foreign Minister Balfour of Great Britain, Premier Orlando and Foreign Minister Sonnino of Italy, Premier Venizelos of Greece and Foreign Minister Pachitch of Serbia either have arrived or are on their way here for a resumption of the conferences at the home of Col. Edward M. House, special representative of the United States government, and the sessions at Versailles.

Besides outlining the general program of the congress, the question of meeting the food situation in Germany and Austria probably will be considered.

The general feeling of the associated governments is that Versailles—Paris—is the most convenient place to hold the peace conference, and if this were decided upon it also would serve as a recognition of the paramount position of France in the war.

In addition to these considerations there are certain practical ones of telegraph and cable facilities and easy communication with the capital, as well as more ample living accommodations than those in the smaller Holland and Switzerland cities.

Rear Admiral S. S. Robinson has been appointed American member of the naval commission to arrange for the execution of the naval terms of the German armistice.

1,002 DEATHS IN ARMY CAMPS

Health Conditions Continue to Show Improvement in Various Cantonments in the U. S.

Washington, Nov. 16.—Health conditions show continued improvement.
Surgeon General Ireland reported in a summary of conditions in the camps and cantonments of the country for the week ended November 8. Cases of influenza for that week are one-third of the number for the preceding week. There were 1,002 deaths from all causes during the week, as against 1,272 for the week ending November 1.

420,000 FRENCH TO RETURN

Tricolor Staff Arranges for Repatriation of War Prisoners—Conference Held at Spa.

Paris, Nov. 16.—French war prisoners numbering 420,000 will be repatriated soon. This number includes those who have been interned in neutral countries. A delegation from the French general staff has held a conference at German headquarters at Spa to arrange details for bringing these men back to this country.

K. of C. Secretary Dies.
Paris, Nov. 16.—William O'Connor, secretary of the Knights of Columbus, is dead here, aged fifty-four.

A. H. STAMPER, Dist. Warden.

In Camp.

Hello Gardner:

How is Bogie and the Courier crew? This leaves me feeling fine. I have just come back from the 50th infantry where I met some of our boys that left in one of the early spring calls. They were drafted but they like army life fine and are anxious to get across and get a shot at Fritz. I got the paper Sunday and, believe me, Bogie, I read every line in it. It made me feel like I was in old Morgan at the time.
Then to think I was in South Carolina.

We are going back to the trenches again next week to visit our trench friends. Of course you know what they are without telling you, but little things like 'cooties' don't worry the Yanks, and especially the 48th. They have the grit to go against anything if they will only let us over and give us a chance. The 50th is in the same division as the 48th so there will be more than two Morgan boys go over the top with the 20th division.

We have a dandy foot ball team and cleaned up the Camp Jackson boys last week and next week take Camp Wardsworth. They will use some members of the 48th in Greenville. When the boys go to town if the M. P. won't fight with us we come back to camp and fight each other.
That's how full of 'pep' we are.

Will close, hoping West Liberty goes over the top in the 4th Liberty Loan. Give my regards to all the crew and hope I will be with you again soon.

Sincerely,
VICTOR WELLS.

Umatilla, Fla., Nov. 10, 1918.
Mr. H. G. Carter.

Dear Friend:

We have arrived safe in the South and have stopped at Umatilla. I will have an advantage over you. Like the Irishman who got two suppers the same night, I will have two summers in one year. Here the roses smell as sweet as June and the darkies' eyes shine as big as the figure 20 on a brand new bill.

We are well and merry and satisfied and never heard the 'flu' mentioned until we got to Jacksonville, Florida.

Say, send me a dollar's worth of your gab by the week and don't let me miss a single copy or I will sue you for damage and if I catch an alligator I will send you one of its toenails for a tooth-pick.

Your friend,
L. A. MUSIC.

In the interesting task of rearranging the geography of Europe to suit the newest styles in map-making, we suggest to the artists in charge that there has been one color spot entirely out of harmony with the other parts. Leave Turkey entirely off the map of Europe.

Lieut. Krupp Von Bohlen Und Halbach, husband of Bertha Krupp, and head of the great Krupp steel works, fled to Holland with the former kaiser. —News item.

If the Dutch government wants to make a neat little sum of money in the shortest possible time it can do it by seizing that select band of cutthroats, libertines and prostitutes, smuggling them across its border and delivering them to the people of the United States. Most of us would give about all we possess to be turned loose on that bunch with the privilege of doing as we pleased.

KILL THE KAISER.

If the allied nations and our own U. S. A. permit former Kaiser Bill, now Count William Hohenzollern, to remain in Holland and spend the rest of his life in luxurious ease, there is something rotten about the heart of civilization. The women and children who went down with the Lusitania will arise from their watery graves to curse the council that framed a peace by the terms of which a monster like him could be allowed to remain alive upon the face of the earth. The murdered babes of Belgium and France will turn over in their little graves—if they were fortunate enough to be interred—and cry out against such an injustice perpetrated in civilization's name. The outraged maidens of France and Belgium will wring their hands with a last despairing wail if the beast who was primarily responsible for their shame and suffering is to be allowed to remain alive to defile God's atmosphere with his fetid breath. Even the bastard babies begotten by Boche brutes at the behest of and by the officers of the kaiser's army, will, when they become old enough to understand, resent with all their inborn bitterness the edict that permitted the reptile who was responsible for their unfortunate existence to remain alive.

Kill the kaiser by all means—or by any means—kill him, with a host of others of his ilk and kind. Their guilt is personal and the betrayal of Jesus Christ by Judas Iscariot pales into insignificance when compared with their crimes.

WHAT ABOUT THE REWARDS?

Now that the war is over, all but the details, and the period of reconstruction drawing near, the problems confronting the people of this country are as complex and important as those with which we had to deal at the beginning of the war. I do not refer to national problems or State problems, preferring to leave these to be discussed by those more competent to deal with the larger affairs of government and politics. I refer to purely local problems and to questions which must be asked and answered right here at home. The war has created conditions and as a result of those conditions new ideas have been begotten and new standards, religious, political, social and economic, have been born. No man or woman with a decent excuse for living could have kept pace with events during the past four years without emerging from the holocaust broader of mind and more charitable of heart than they were before they received their baptism of blood and fire, figuratively speaking. But it is not every man, or woman either, who can give a satisfactory excuse for their existence, consequently not every one has been broadened and chastened by events through which they have passed. There are people in Morgan county—I say it with shame—who cannot point to a single instance where they have done anything whatever to help to win the war or to make more pleasant the surroundings or better the conditions of the boys who were offering their lives over there so that we and ours might be secure and comfortable over here. There are men whose every thought and every impulse since the war began was gauged by dollars and cents. They sought by every means possible to coin the blood of our fallen heroes into nickels and dimes. If the war had not touched their own households they would have been glad for it to have gone on indefinitely, their opportunities for making money were so enhanced.

Now, as to the question of reconstruction and readjustment when the boys come home. It is a big question and cannot be discussed in all its phases in an article of this kind. But one or two questions stand out paramount. Will the profiteer and the slacker be permitted to compete on equal terms after the war with the man who gave his money and time and the boy who offered his life? Will the laborer who refused to work because conditions were not just as favorable as he could wish, or who demanded a prohibitive wage when his services were sorely needed, be allowed to occupy a position by the side of the boy who comes from bloody Belgium or France?

These are questions which must be met and answered in the near future, and the men and women who did their part unselfishly and heroically during the period which tried men's souls as no other period ever did, ought to be the ones to sit in judgment.

Red sumac flames across the hill,
And in each wood-fringed hollow,
The autumn breeze among the trees Calls, "Follow, follow, follow!"
The pumpkins gleam like vagrant gold,
The grain is silver shining;
The very clouds above unfold,
To show a rosy lining!

Red sumac flames across the hill,
Where fading sunlight lingers,
And points the way for me to stray,
With soft, enchanted fingers—
And as I stand beside the way,
The world seems throbbing, living—
And there I feel God's love today,
And thank him for Thanksgiving!

OBJECTED TO CUSTOM

Observance of Thanksgiving Was for a Period Not Popular in Southern States.

IN the South Thanksgiving day was practically unknown until 1855. In that year Governor Jones of Virginia sent a letter to the state legislature urging a recognition of the day that he might issue a proclamation for its observance; but he was advised that as most of the citizens of the state regarded this day as "a relic of Puritanic bigotry," he ought not to urge its observance.

Two years later Governor Wise, the successor of Jones, without asking advice of the legislature, issued a proclamation, and the people, generally throwing aside their prejudice, observed the day.

In the next year, 1858, eight governors of southern states issued proclamations after the model of New England, calling upon their people to observe the last Thursday in November as a day for Thanksgiving. But the Civil war was at hand, and the bitterness engendered in the long controversy over slavery caused many violent opponents of the North to oppose the proclamation, because of the introduction of a "Yankee custom."

Undoubtedly our present Thanksgiving day has its prototype in the Plymouth Thanksgiving festival of 1621. It has been asserted repeatedly that the Plymouth festival was suggested to the Pilgrims by the Jewish "Feast of Ingathering."

If the Plymouth festival has immediate kinship with similar events in the past, it has analogies with the harvest home of England. The Pilgrims were familiar with the English celebration, and many of them, no doubt, had participated in it. The dominant mark of each was the joy over the ingathering harvest.

The chief difference between the two was the want of ceremony at Plymouth that characterized the English festival. In some parts of England the merry-making was around the "Maid-dancing" or "Maiden" and in many places the last load of the harvest was drawn to the barn in a wagon called the "hoop cart." In front went the plow and the oxen, and behind them the reapers, men and women, singing joyously as they proceeded. At Plymouth there was no ceremony. There was no harvest song so familiar in the fatherland:

Here's health to the barley mow;
Here's health to the man Who very well can Both harrow and plough and sow.

Time for Self-Examination.

The Thanksgiving season is a good time to examine self and see if there is anything in our life that hinders the progress of the neighborhood. It may be that we are standing in the way of community progress unwarrantably. It may be that while we feel that we are leaders we should be followers instead, or at least one who works with others instead of in advance of them. Society does not care whether we lead or whether our neighbor leads. What society wants is progress and we will be held responsible if we do not sacrifice our own peculiar views if necessary for the welfare of the neighborhood.

BY OUR PRESIDENTS

Thanksgiving Proclamations That Have Come From Occupants of the White House.

PRESIDENT LINCOLN'S last Thanksgiving proclamation, set for the last Thursday in November, 1864, expresses his thankfulness for the vision of victory which is in view, but still contains an humble supplication for peace. What a glorious Thanksgiving he would have sent over the land had he been spared to issue that which begged a nation's thank-offerings for peace!

This privilege denied the great Lincoln was granted to the aggressive Andrew Johnson and the somewhat cold and businesslike message he issued upon an occasion so full of cause for gratitude is characteristic of the man. In that message he said:

"Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God during the year which is now coming to an end to relieve our beloved country from the fearful scourge of civil war, and, to permit us to secure the blessings of peace, unity and harmony, with a great enlargement of civil liberty. . . . Now, therefore, be it known that I, Andrew Johnson, president of the United States, do hereby recommend to the people thereof that they do set apart and observe the first Thursday in December next as a day of national thanksgiving to the Creator of the universe for these great deliverances and blessings."

"The Spanish-American war was of such short duration that it resulted in few proclamations," said a librarian at Washington, as he turned the pages of one of his big red volumes to the year 1918. "Here is President McKinley's proclamation dated April 23, bearing the simple statement that war exists." The Thanksgiving proclamation for the same year recommended the giving of thanks in the following words:

"The skies have been for a time darkened by the cloud of war, but as we were compelled to take up the sword in the cause of humanity, we are permitted to rejoice that the conflict has been of short duration. . . . We may laud and magnify his holy name that the cessation of hostilities came so soon, so as to spare both sides the countless sorrows and disasters that attend protracted war."

"I do, therefore, invite all my fellow-citizens, also those who may be at sea or sojourning in foreign lands as those at home, to set apart and observe Thursday, the 24th day of November, as a day of national Thanksgiving."

Howdy Thanksgiving! Here you is again!
You comes a-interruptin' when I's ready to complain.
I's thankful foh a pork chop an' I's thankful foh a bean; I's thankful foh each lump o' coal dis neighborhood has seen.

Now folks is helpin' other folks to see de winter through.
'Cause all de folks is kickin' jes de same as me an' you.
Howdy, Thanksgiving! As I looks along de line I's thankful foh de company, 'cause de company's mighty fine!

Turkey in American History.
The turkey was domesticated by the aborigines of the Southwest and by the Aztecs of Mexico, centuries before the white man ever set foot in America. The Yucatan variety was the one named by the Indians, and from it most of the varieties now under domestication are supposed to have been derived, although it is possible that there has been a large admixture of the blood of the Northern wild turkeys. The famous "feather cloth" worn by the Aztecs in days before the conquest, specimens of which are still preserved in the royal palace at Madrid, was woven of ocellated turkey feathers. This feather cloth was also known to the prehistoric cliff dwellers of the Mesa Verde, Canon de Chelly and other regions of Arizona and New Mexico, and is occasionally found when excavations are made.

WORTHY TO VEIL ROYALTY

Queen of Siam the Possessor of Probably Most Magnificent Garment in the World.

The queen of Siam owns a toilet article which is altogether calculated to fill the hearts of all other ladies of the kingdom with ardent desire and envy. For the queen is the happy possessor of a veil capable of beautifying her face most wonderfully. This veil is a delicate tissue of the finest threads, but woven so as to have some resistance.

Part of this three-meters-long veil is intended to conceal the face, while the remainder flows down over the figure and closely nestles to the body. The veil, which falls over the back, is completely woven over with diamond dust, while the part in front is less dusted, so as not to impair the face and the organs of sense. The lowest ends of the veil are covered with brilliant.

The tissue of the veil is so prepared as to cause changes in color when exposed to the air. No sooner has the wearer stepped into the street than the veil assumes a delicate rose hue which deepens and, as it were, he comes animate the longer it remains in the open. When the queen returns to her abode the hue passes away and the veil turns pale and dead as before.

The veil has been credited with possessing the most wonderful powers. For a century it has been in the possession of the royal house of Siam, and although constantly used and exposed to all kinds of influences of the weather it has not lost anything of its texture and beauty.

Courtesy a Business Asset.

Courtesy is the life of trade. To be sure you must have the goods, but courtesy helps to sell them. A certain big establishment has a man whose chief business is to meet people and make them feel at home. He has a pleasant post a short distance from the door and it's his business to see every one that comes in. He has a handshake and a smile for everybody. When people come in that do not seem to know where they want to go he talks with them and learns their needs and sees that they get in touch with the proper clerks. The crowd feels there because it is made to feel that the store is interested in them. And they pay less for the goods, too, because they buy in such large quantity that the store can afford to sell at lower rates and still make money. That's the reason it sells more furniture, carpets and general furnishings than all the other stores combined in that town. Courtesy and service is the watchword and they find there's money in it.—Pennysylvania Grit.

News Is Stranger Than Fiction

By MCSS.

Suppose advertising of all kinds the world over were wiped out for a month—utterly obliterated. Yes, it would ruin business. But it would do more—it would make this old world positively STUPID.

Why? Because ADVERTISING IS NEWS, and we must keep pace with the news or grow stale. Newspaper advertising—THE BEST ON EARTH—is displayed news, paid for with a purpose.

The latest news in newspaper advertising, a special sale of furs, a big reduction in suits, a saving in groceries, furniture at annual sale prices or five bars of soap for the price of three—all this latest news is as important to every housewife and the husband who pays the bills as the last word from Mexico or an account of the newest municipal or society scandal.

Advertising is POSITIVELY and ABSOLUTELY news. Successful advertisers make their ads. as NEWSY as possible. Read the ads. in this paper as NEWS. Keep up with them. Truth is stranger than fiction. So is news.

Valuable Information Service by American Red Cross.

Through the Red Cross Civilian Relief Department arrangements have been made by which valuable information regarding any question pertaining to the allotment, allowance, compensation or insurance can be promptly secured for the families of the men in any branch of war service.

Most important is the fact that information concerning men in hospitals in France, so who may be prisoners, can be secured more promptly and more accurately through the Red Cross mediums than in any other way.

Families of men in the service from Morgan county should communicate with L. Y. Redwine, Chairman, or J. D. Arnett, Executive Secretary of the Civilian Relief Committee of the Morgan County Chapter of the Red Cross to gain desired information in reference to any question pertaining to the War Risk Insurance Act, or regarding the welfare of men in camp in the United States or in overseas service, or in regard to any home problem where aid or advice is needed.

Germany must be destroyed.

The New Dawn.

HAS IT ever occurred to you that economic evolution—that ceaseless change in the requirements of humanity—is but little affected by the purpose of man? That when a change is due it comes of inward conditions that override all obstacles? In this article I have not space to go back and review the changing conditions that have forced man ever upward, for it has ever been that conditions controlled man's political status and not man's political status that controlled conditions. In other words, every improvement in the condition of humanity has forced itself on the race in the face of determined opposition. Man-kind is wedded to conservatism and clings to familiar conditions until the conditions become intolerable. Then come changes whether we will or not. Evolution is as inexorable and relentless as Fate. It is Fate.

Evolution is the parent of revolution. Evolution prepares the way for change and the change is revolution. In most cases recent in history revolution has meant bloodshed, but revolution may be bloodless.

When the pioneers began to conquer the American wilderness the had no dream of the revolution they were preparing. For generation after generation they clung to old traditions and continued to think along the old established lines. The divine right of kings was their fetish, and not until they were in the midst of a war, forced by evolution's ceaseless change, did they think to discard their idol. But evolution had been at work since the days of the troglodyte, and the American revolution was but one of the milestones in its march. Always in this I am speaking of economic evolution—the conditions changing in man's bread-winning.

In the last analysis man's life is the fight to live. The intensity of that fight depends upon the economic conditions. From the beginning of man's existence there has been this ceaseless change, always upward except during the cataclysmal periods, and each change adding to the requirements of the race. The steady tendency has been to develop the individual and cause him to demand larger personal opportunities. The economic needs of man decide his governmental policies, which is politics. Economic conditions control governmental policies rather than the reverse, notwithstanding the almost universal belief to the contrary.

The saturnalia of blood from which the world is beginning to emerge was a part of the plan of evolution, and the crash of falling crowns is but the beginning of revolution. Economic unrest compelled autocracy to stake all in the effort to overthrow democracy. This effort and its failure was inevitable. It was made so by economic conditions. We can see the overthrow of autocracy so far as the putting of the emperors and kings in the discard is concerned, but has the autocracy of wealth been uncrowned? The answer to this question lies not with the conquerors but the conquered. The manner of the reorganization of Germany, Russia, Austria and the other lands where chaos exists will be the index of the New Dawn. In the reorganization of these countries will come a broader view and a more general application of democracy. There will be no autocracy of wealth entrenched in power by long continued suzerainty, such as obtains in Britain and America. In the new order in Europe labor will be, for the first time in history, supreme in government.

The New Dawn is here by the inexorable force of economic evolution. No human power can stay the trend of the world to the socialistic state. The very powers that are combating that idea are hastening the time when it will be consummated. The marvelous organizations of capitalist greed will be ready-made for the State when the taking-over time comes. The early coming of that time is inevitable. Not through the visionary group who are clamoring for power, but from far-seeing statesmen who are reading the signs of the things with which the times are pregnant. Opposition is futile. There was opposition to the passing of the feudal system, but it passed when the time was ripe, and competition took its place. Competition has held the stage only to prepare the world for the shifting of the scenes for co-operation. The time for the change is here, and the change may come in a twinkling. Patiently the world watched the experiment of the democracy of the western world for a century and a half, and approved, and crowns are falling like autumn leaves. Nations, prostrate now, will emerge freed from the dross of selfishness and build anew on the foundation of universal service. It requires no gift of prophecy to foretell this. When we review the history of the age-long battle that labor has waged for recognition, and then look at prostrate Europe, wealth cringing and labor in supreme command, can we doubt the birth of the Co-operative Commonwealth?

We may not, individually, like the idea. We may rebel at the thought of re-adjusting our lives and thought to the change, but it will not avail us. We are wise if we begin the re-adjustment now. One of the lessons of the war the people will not forget: That the Government (i. e. the people) is supreme. Before the war it was a mooted question as to which was the more powerful, the government or the railroads, but Uncle Sam took the railroads. Now, if the government can take over a public utility in the defense of an abstract principle why not do so in case of a concrete need? The importance of the lesson, however, is that the government can do these things. Moreover, the old Germany is destroyed.

WORK IN SHADOW OF DEATH

Lives of Those Engaged in Manufacture of Explosives Are of Necessity in Constant Danger.

Explosives are, almost or quite without exception, composed of substances which are endothermic in character; that is, heat energy is absorbed when they are formed, and this heat is liberated when they decompose. Heat, moreover, accelerates all chemical changes. Hence, writes Henry P. Talbot in Atlantic Monthly, if any (even a very small) part of an explosive mass begins to break down from any cause the heat liberated promotes the rapidity of the change, and this, in turn, is communicated to neighboring portions, until the entire mass may be involved and destroyed.

So far as it is humanly possible to do so, all existing causes must be foreseen and forestalled, and the lack of stability during storage has necessitated the discarding of many materials otherwise of great promise. As an instance of extreme instability the behavior of a substance known as nitrogen iodide may be cited. This compound explodes with great violence if touched with a feather—a literal instance of being "ticked to death"—and often it is exploded by the mere friction of the air when moved from one spot to another. Such sensitiveness, this obviously places a substance outside the bounds of practical usefulness; but all explosives are, in the very nature of the case, unstable, and their preservation involves the study of factors which differ from this case in degree rather than in kind.

GLORY OF TURKISH CAPITAL

Great Mosque of Santa Sofia a Marvel in Beauty of Architecture and Rich Decoration.

The great mosque of Santa Sofia towers majestically over Constantinople, dominating its surroundings by sheer thick-set ponderousness. Its bulky dome and tacked-on minarets are, however, only the shell which covers a vast cathedral justly famed for beauty of line and rich ornament.

From the outer court you pass through a heavy bronze door and stand within a hall of such cavernous proportions that it seems impossible that even the exterior, that seemed so massive, could contain it. Above the dome rises in a sweeping curve. Once mosaic figures of Christian saints adorned these higher regions of the hall, but the vandals long ago covered the saints with plaster through which in certain places they still can be seen smiling dimly but serenely.

The mosque has not always been a Mohammedan temple. The original Santa Sofia, a Christian cathedral erected by Constantine, was destroyed by fire. It was Justinian who rebuilt it in the sixth century, decorating it with such lavish magnificence that he was himself surprised at the result and cried out: "Solomon, I have surpassed thee!" In Justinian's day the new temple was a veritable Aladdin's cave. Its walls and columns were of marble brought from foreign quarries and from other temples. Famous shrines of Diana, Apollo and even the Temple of the Sun at Baalbek contributed their statues and jewels, willingly or not, to the glory of Justinian's cathedral. Into this treasure vault in 1453 burst the conquering Turks, wrecking, plundering and claiming possession. From that time on Santa Sofia, Church of the Divine Wisdom, has been a Turkish mosque, with minarets added and the crescent over all.—Chicago Daily News.

DEPENDS ON ONE'S THOUGHTS

By No Means Always the Part of Real Wisdom for Persons to Say What They Think.

Whether we are to say what we think, or not, depends entirely on what our thoughts are and how they will affect others. There are some thoughts it is a sin to hide. The people who smother a good thought because they are afraid of being misunderstood or laughed at, take upon themselves a dangerous responsibility. To conceal a kind thought is something for which there is no excuse. There are other thoughts which it is a pity to allow to get beyond your own brain. It is unfortunate indeed to have them, but at least you can resolve that they shall never get outside of your birthplace. If you think this world is a dreary, dismal place, what is the good of saying so? If morbid, angry thoughts have taken possession of you stamp them out as you would a breed of snakes.

Be brave enough to speak the thought which should be spoken, no matter whether it is likely to be popular or not. And be strong enough to hold in a leash the thought which, if it should escape, would work harm to others.—Selected.

Way of a Japanese Woman.

Laford Hearn was a very critical man. For instance, when he was doing business with publishers in foreign countries, and because he was so far away, the publisher would take the liberty of deciding the arrangement of such things as book covers and illustrations without consulting Hearn, who was very particular about all details. At such times Hearn was often made furiously angry. When he received a letter from the publishing house he would immediately write back a fierce (sic) answer in anger, and order it to be mailed at once; but I would say, "Yes," and hold it over a mail. Two or three days afterward, when he had become calm, he would regret that he had written too severely, and would say: "Mamma-san, have you mailed that letter? I would answer 'Yes,' and watch to see whether he really regretted it. If so, I would give him the letter. He would be immensely pleased, and say: 'Mamma-san, you are the only one!' and would begin a new letter in a milder tone."—Mrs. Hearn in Atlantic.

First Automobile Patent.

The first application for a patent for an automobile was filed in the United States patent office by George B. Selden, 39 years ago. Selden was a patent lawyer in Rochester, N. Y., when he first began to experiment with the idea of a vehicle propelled by a gasoline engine. Considering that his "road engine" was not yet perfected and that the times were not ripe for it, he secured delay after delay, and the patent was not definitely issued until 1895. From the first, doubts were cast on the validity of the Selden patent, but it earned a fortune for the astute inventor-attorney and for a long time dominated the motor-car industry of the United States.

Lieutenant Colonel.

Combinations of the word "lieutenant" such as lieutenant colonel, mean an officer subordinate, an assistant to the rank to which lieutenant is prefixed. In European armies the lieutenant colonel is often the real commander of a regiment, its colonel being some royalty whose duties end with having himself photographed in the uniform.

More Sugar.

Owing to the coming in of the beet sugar crop and the increase of available shipping the Food Administration has ruled that an increased quantity of sugar may be used.

Merchants may now sell three pounds per month per person, and families may, if they so desire, purchase the whole monthly supply at once.

Merchants will receive additional certificates for November.

FACE the FACTS

LET us face the facts. The war situation is critical. Unless the Allies fight as they never yet have fought, defeat threatens. Hungry men cannot fight at their best; nor hungry nations. France, England, and Italy are going hungry unless we feed them.

Wheat Savings—They must have wheat. It is the best food to fight on. It is the easiest to ship. We alone can spare it to them. By saving just a little—less than a quarter of what we ate last year—we can support those who are fighting our battles. And we can do it without stinting ourselves. We have only to substitute another food just as good.

The Corn of Plenty—Corn is that food. There's a surplus of it. Providence has been generous in the hour of our need. It has given us corn in such bounty as was never known before. Tons of corn. Trainloads of corn. Five hundred million bushels over and above our regular needs. All we have to do is to learn to appreciate it. Was ever patriotic duty made so easy? And so clear?

America's Own Food—Corn! It is the true American food. The Indians, hardiest of races, lived on it. Our forefathers adopted the diet and conquered a continent. For a great section of our country it has long been the staff of life. How well the South fought on it, history tells. Now it can help America win a world war.

Learn Something—Corn! It isn't one food. It's a dozen. It's a cereal. It's a vegetable. It's a bread. It's a dessert. It's nutritious; more food value in it, dollar for dollar, than meat or eggs or most other vegetables. It's good to eat; how good you don't know until you've had corn-bread properly cooked. Best of all, it's plentiful and it's patriotic.

Corn's Infinite Variety—How much do you know about corn? About how good it is? About the many delicious ways of cooking it? And what you miss by not knowing more about it? Here are a few of its uses:

There are at least fifty ways to use corn meal to make good dishes for dinner, supper, lunch or breakfast. Here are some suggestions:

HOT BREADS
Boston brown bread.
Hoecake.
Muffins.
Biscuits.
Griddle cakes.
Waffles.

DESSERTS
Corn-meal molasses cake.
Apple corn bread.
Dumplings.
Gingerbread.
Fruit gems.

HEARTY DISHES
Corn-meal croquettes.
Corn-meal fish balls.
Meat and corn-meal dumplings.
Italian polenta.
Tamales.

MORGAN COUNTY'S Honor Roll

Holly Coffee,

Aged 23, son of Orlando Coffee, died May 27, 1918, of wounds received on the battle front in France. Buried at Bon Villiers, Oise, France.

James Caskey,

Son of Jesse Caskey, deceased, killed in battle in France, June 7, 1918.

Arthur Brown,

Of Relief, died of wounds received in battle in France, August 8, 1918.

John S. Pelfrey,

Of Relief, 22 years old, killed in battle in France August 17, 1918.

Jasper Elkins,

Of near West Liberty, killed in battle in France August 31, 1918.

Kelly Elam

of Blair's Mills, killed in action in France September 4, 1918.

ELAM—James C. Elam died of troubles incident to old age at his home just outside the city limits of Mt. Sterling on Friday Nov. 18, 1918. He was born May 8, 1839, and was a native of Morgan county, but had lived in Montgomery county for a number of years.

Mr. Elam was a splendid type of old fashioned Kentucky manhood, and was known and respected by a large number of people, both in the blue grass and the mountain sections. He is survived by his widow and two brothers, Frank and Noah Elam, both of Index, this county.

Funeral services were conducted at the home by Rev. Clyde Darsie, of Mt. Sterling, Sunday afternoon, after which the remains were laid to rest in Machpelah cemetery.

ATKINSON—D. M. Atkinson, father of Mrs. W. M. Gardner, of this place, died at his home in Salyersville at 7:15 o'clock Monday morning, the 18th inst., of heart trouble.

Mr. Atkinson was 80 years old and was one of the leading citizens of Magoffin county.

Burial took place in the family lot in the Salyersville cemetery.

CASKEY—The 8-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Caskey, of the Neal valley neighborhood, died of influenza Nov. 13. The remains were interred in the Neal graveyard Friday.

BARNES—Grover Barnes died at Cannel City Thursday of last week. Deceased was not a native of this county and we did not learn where the burial took place.

GREAR—John Bohan Greear, aged 17, son of W. B. Greear, was killed at Hazard last week while coupling cars, according to a report received here Tuesday.

HALE—Just before going to press the news reached this office that A. B. Hale, a highly respected citizen of the Pekin neighborhood, had died Tuesday afternoon from obstruction of the bowels.

We were unable to learn of the funeral arrangements.

Mr. Hale has a son, Geo. Hubert, with the American Expeditionary Forces.

N. M. Robbins, of Yeum, was here last week on business.

Noah Mann, of Dan, was in town on business last week.

J. V. Henry, of White Oak, was here on business Friday.

J. H. Fugate, of Liberty Road, was in town on business Monday.

John Wilson Hazelrigg, who has been sick for several months, it able to be out again.

Mrs. H. C. Elkins, of Kimbrell, was here looking after some business matters this week.

Amos Day, of Wheelwright, and Dophia Day, of Morehead, visited their brother Ed recently.

Mrs. Nannie Frost, of Nannie, has received word that her son, K. Clifford Murphy, has arrived safely overseas. He has been in the army fourteen months.

Mrs. Ida Williams, of Oklahoma City, Okla., is visiting her father, John DeHart, of near town.

L. T. Hovermale left this morning to attend a convention of County Food Administrators at Louisville.

Mrs. J. H. Cole received a card Saturday from her son, James Seitz, saying that he he arrived safely overseas Nov. 15.

Dr. J. D. Whiteaker, of Cannel City, was called here Sunday to see Mrs. W. M. Kendall, whose condition is very critical.

Jas. E. Cottle, of Forest, called on the Courier crew Monday and had some handbills made advertising the sale of his personal property Nov. 30. Jim contemplates leaving for Kansas about the first of January to make his home in the future.

Notice.

The history of the great world war is now being written. Mr. Fred P. Caldwell, of Louisville, has been appointed State Historian, and upon him devolves the enormous task of compiling and recording the part played by Kentuckians in the war. This is too big a job for one man, so Mr. Caldwell has appointed a County Historian in every county in the State to assist him in the work. I have been appointed County Historian for Morgan county and am now beginning the work. Without the co-operation and assistance of the people of the county I cannot do the work assigned to me with any degree of accuracy, therefore I am asking the assistance of every reader of the Courier.

First, the Courier Honor Roll is not complete. There have been some Morgan county boys killed in action or died of wounds, the record of whose deaths we have failed to get. I also want the names and all data concerning any soldier from Morgan county who has died of disease, either in training camp or overseas. In short, if you know of any incident concerning a soldier, sailor, marine, nurse or member of the medical corps from Morgan county, which would be of historical interest, please write me in full so that I can make a record of it.

This work concerns every man, woman and child in the county, more or less. Will you co-operate with me in making a complete, accurate record of what Morgan county boys have done in the great war?

H. G. COTTLE,
County Historian.

Our Disregard for the Law.

Editor Courier:

It is absolutely safe to say that there is no place in America where there is less regard for law than there is in West Liberty and Morgan county. During the present epidemic of "flu," which is regarded as one of the most dangerous diseases that we have ever had to contend with, there has been absolutely no effort on the part of the health officers or any other officers to check the spread of this awful plague.

In other sections of our country the boards of health have resorted to quarantining families afflicted with the disease, but not so in the good Christian (?) town of West Liberty. People are allowed to congregate in large crowds in the stores, postoffice, and county offices, and cough, sneeze and spit on the floor and in every way and manner spread the disease, while the board of health does nothing but draw its pay.

The conditions of our town from a sanitary standpoint are something horrible, and every effort has been made to get the police judge and the board of health to have a cleanup, but nothing doing. I invite the special attention of our honorable board of health, the honorable police judge, town marshal and town trustees to the indescribable condition of filth that exists in some of the streets and alleys. Everything that is implied in the word filth can be found in these alleys and they have been in this condition for months. Is our health to be protected or are we to be murdered by this vile filth? Every law passed by the board of town trustees is allowed to become a dead letter and the whole people disregard them as though they did not exist.

While the town authorities are spending large sums of money repairing Main street some of the other streets and alleys that are as much public passways as Main street are allowed to become almost blockaded by every form of rubbish, including brush, boxes, tin cans, discarded buggies, wagons, and various other things. Why not improve all the streets? Isn't the man who lives on a back alley as much entitled to have the street repaired in front of his property as the man on Main street if he pays his taxes?

It is up to the citizens of West Liberty to take this proposition in hand and have something done and not wait until some of our families are buried before they act.

In Every Time of Stress.

and difficulty for over ninety years The Youth's Companion has stood by the family. It has cheered and encouraged and entertained—delighting all, informing all, and making home life and loyal sentiment the ideal of all. For 1919 the publishers intend to make the paper worth more to family life than ever before. The splendid Serials alone are events in next year's reading in the family life. Hundreds of Short Stories and Articles by great contributors, and a steady stream of helpfulness in everything from the solid and serious to the happy humor for which The Companion is famed. In these days the whole family needs The Companion, and it is still only $2.00 a year for 52 splendid issues.

Don't miss Grace Richmond's great serial, Anne Exeter, 10 chapters, beginning December 12. The following special offer is made to new subscribers:

1. The Youth's Companion—52 issues of 1919.
2. All the remaining weekly issues of 1918.
3. The Home Companion Calendar for 1919.

All the above for only $2.00, or you may Rowan's New Newspaper.

A copy of the Rowan County News, edited and published by E. J. Durham, at Morehead, reached our desk last week. The paper is a six column quarto, using four pages of ready-print. The paper as a whole is very well gotten up and deserves the patronage of the people of Rowan county.

Reward.

I will pay $10.00 reward for the return of a saddle which was taken from my stable on October 12, 1918. Description of saddle: Minnihan tree, iron stirrups worn very thin. Buena Vista fenders. 434tf

HENRY COLE.

GRASSY CREEK.

The flu has somewhat abated and there are but few cases in this section.

Ova Amyx and Kelly Gevedon, who have been home on furlough, have returned to camp.

The well drilled recently on the farm of Lee Rose was dry and the machinery has been moved to the farm of Joe C. Stamper.

Clint Ferguson, who has been discharged from the army, has located at Cannel City.

Eld. J. L. Johnson has returned from a preaching tour in West Virginia.

Eld. T. H. Testerman, is building a barn for Oscar Peyton.

Joe C. Gevedon, who has been working at Blue Diamond for several months, paid his family a short visit last week.

W. A. Testerman, who has been working at Quicksand for some months, has returned home for a short time.

Born, on the 12th inst., to the wife of Martin Taulbee, a girl.

Success to the Courier and all the crew. FAIRPLAY.

A FAMILY MEDICINE

In Her Mother's Home, Says This Georgia Lady, Regarding Black-Draught. Relief From Headache, Malaria, Chills, Etc.

Ringgold, Ga.—Mrs. Chas. Gaston, of this place, writes: "I am a user of Theodor's Black-Draught; in fact, it was one of our family medicines. Also in my mother's home, when I was a child. When any of us children complained of headache, usually caused by constipation, she gave us a dose of Black-Draught, which would rectify the trouble. Often in the Spring, we would have malaria and chills, or troubles of this kind, we would take Black-Draught pretty regular until the liver acted well, and we would soon be up and around again. We would not be without it for it certainly has saved us lots of doctor bills. Just a dose of Black-Draught when not so well saves a lot of days in bed."

Theodor's Black-Draught has been a use for many years in the treatment of stomach, liver and bowel troubles, and the popularity which it now enjoys is proof of its merit.

If your liver is not doing its duty, you will suffer from such disagreeable symptoms as headache, biliousness, constipation, indigestion, etc., and unless something is done, serious trouble may result.

Theodor's Black-Draught has been found a valuable remedy for these troubles. It is purely vegetable, and acts in a prompt and natural way, regulating the liver to its proper functions and cleansing the bowels of impurities. Try it. Insist on Theodor's, the original and genuine. 7c

The Price of Sugar.

The wholesale price of sugar advanced so that the retailers can no longer sell at 10 cents, and under the uncertainty of the market it is impossible to fix a price that will fit all the county. There is a way, however, that the retailer can stay within the law and arrive at the correct price. The Food Administration permits the retailer to make a profit of one cent per pound on sugar. This price is arrived at by adding 1 cent to the wholesale price of the sugar and adding the freight. Nothing else can be added. Rents, insurance, nor other overhead expenses can not be figured in. Nor can paper bags, twine, etc. Just add the freight and 1 cent to the cost and you have it. If the sugar costs you 10.3 a pound and the freight is 40 cents a hundred you figure it this way:

Wholesale price, 10.4
Freight an 40c a hundred. . . 4 Profit of 1c a pound.01.

Price to consumer. 11.8

This is eleven and four-fifths cents a pound, and the price the sugar must be sold at under the above cost, and would not authorize the selling at 12 cents nor at 12½. The sugar must be sold at not more than one cent a pound above cost and freight.

L. T. HOVERMALE,
Morgan County Food Administrator.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
